Have you ever wanted to create an online course and teach students how to do specific tasks that you or others you know are experts in? Do you have tons of content sitting around in old blog posts and articles that you have created that is still up to date but not really getting the traffic it once did?

Well if you say YES to these questions the possibility exists that you could be just the right person to start teaching online classes and courses. The big question I bet is on your mind is, "How do I start" and "What Tools Do I Use?"

If you are like myself and most people you probably suffer from information overload when it comes to this question. I know I did. At least I did until I actually sat down and started to compile all of this information into a usable resource.

This is the result. In this book I will go over all of the points, questions and difficulties that people have when it comes to online education and starting their own online schools, classes, courses and even membership sites. I will walk you through the entire process from start to finish and give you resources and tools that I personally use for creating my own sites. I will also give you a link to my online schools - Newbie Courses & The K Publishing Academy.

So if you are looking to start creating courses. If you are spilling over from frustration and just don't know what to do or where to start download this book today. The information and resources you find within will save you hours, weeks, months and even years of frustration like I had.

Download today, take advantage of the resources and contact me for assistance when you visit the inside.
